Report of Independent Auditor

To the Members
Alaris Trading Partners, LLC:

I have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of Alaris Trading Partners, LLC, as of December 31, 2007 and 2006, and the related statements of income, changes in members' equity, and changes in financial condition, for the years then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. I believe that my audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Alaris Trading Partners, LLC, at December 31, 2007 and 2006 and the results of its operations and changes in financial condition for the years then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

My audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion of the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained on Schedules I, II, and III is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not required as part of the basic financial statements, but as supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subject to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in my opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relating to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Notes to Financial Statement
December 31, 2007 and 2006

1. Organization and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Organization

We are an introducing broker dealer. We conduct our business from our offices in San Diego, California and Jersey City, New Jersey and we engage in the following business activities with institutional clients;

- Broker or dealer retailing listed and unlisted corporate equity securities;
- Broker or dealer selling corporate debt securities;
- U.S. government securities;
- Investment advisory services

Our transactions are conducted on a fully disclosed basis with another broker-dealer, Goldman Sachs Execution and Clearing LP, a NYSE member firm. We are approved as a securities broker dealer by the Securities and Exchange Commission, Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), formerly known as the National Association of Securities Dealers, State of California and State of New Jersey. Accordingly, we operate under the exemptive provisions of Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii).

Basis of Accounting

Our financial statements are prepared on the accrual method of accounting, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, whereby revenues are recognized when earned and expenses are recognized when incurred.

Revenue recognition:

Our revenue is commission based and is recorded on a settlement date basis. Securities transactions, underlying the commissions, are also recorded on a settlement date basis.

Property, computers, equipment and leasehold improvements:

Our fixed assets are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Fixed assets consist of computers, office furniture and equipment, as well as leasehold improvements, with a cost exceeding $500. Depreciation is provided on a double declining balance method over the underlying assets useful life, ranging from three to seven years. Salvage is considered and is estimated to be zero.

Use of Estimates

In preparing our financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles we make certain estimates and assumptions that effect certain reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues, expenses, and disclosures at the date of the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Any adjustments applied to estimated amounts are recognized in the Year in which the adjustments are determined.

1. Organization and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Cash and Cash Restrictions

Our cash consists of amounts held on deposit with financial institutions. We do not hold any certificates of deposits or government securities. We do have $65,000 on deposit that is restricted in order to satisfy our security deposit agreement underlying our Jersey City office lease.

We are exempt from the Reserve Requirement of Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii). However, in the year ended December 31, 2007, we established and maintain a special reserve bank account for the exclusive benefit of our soft-dollar customers. This special reserve account maintains a cash balance greater than 105 percent of our soft-dollar liabilities, computed on a monthly basis. This reserve account is separate from all other bank accounts.

At December 31, 2007 the cash balance in our special reserve account was $229,738 and our soft-dollar liabilities were $183,570. Accordingly, the cash balance in our special reserve account exceeded our soft-dollar liabilities by 125 percent.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject us to concentration of credit risk consist of temporary cash investments. We place our temporary cash with financial institutions that are insured by the FDIC or SPIC. At December 31, 2007 we had $939,681 on deposit among different institutions which exceeded the maximum insurance coverage.

Income Taxes

We do not record a provision for federal or state income taxes. We are a partnership, not subject to income taxes. Our partners are required to include their proportionate share of income in their income tax return.

We are subject to an annual California Franchise Tax and fee, measured on our apportioned California gross receipts. Our 2007 and 2006 California Franchise Tax and Fee is $6,800 and $800, respectfully.

We are subject to a New Jersey tax based upon the number of partners. Our 2007 fee was $1,125.

2. Clearing Firm Deposit

We are required to maintain a certain amount of cash on deposit with Goldman Sachs to satisfy the Company's deposit requirement under our clearing agreement. The amount on deposit is restricted and the amount can fluctuate.

SUPPLEMENTAL ACCOUNTANT'S REPORT INTERNAL CONTROLS

Board of Directors
Alaris Trading Partners, LLC

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements of Alaris Trading Group, LLC, for the year ended December 31, 2007 in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, I considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, I do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's control..

Also, required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), I have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that I considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital rule under 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

- 1 Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verification, and comparisons. and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
- 2 Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the proceeding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design in operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the entity's ability to initiate, authorize, record, process, or report financial data reliably in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a remote likelihood that a misstatement of the entity's financial statements that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

My consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected with in a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, I noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that I considered to be material weaknesses as defined above.

I understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of his report are considered by the SEC to be adequate or its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objective in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on my study, I believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2007 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Company's Members and management, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
